

Being a Learning Teacher

Raising this child,
going to school and trying to keep it cool.

Raising this child,
having to go to work every night.

I can't wait until I go home,
lay down beside my baby,
and turn off the light.

Raising this child,
giving him love and affection.
Around him no "potty" words are mentioned.

Raising this child,
teaching him his ABC's and 123's and fulfilling his necessities.

Raising this child,
is not only to teach him,
but to learn from him too.

By Maria Alfaro